

Age difference

We are all subject to the process of ageing, although it is hard to detect from one day to the next.

Imagine your appearance years from now as you enter old age: sketch a portrait of yourself and consider the likely influence of family genetics.

Exchange rate

Most of us understand that 'appearances can be deceptive' and 'it's what's on the inside that counts'. That's not to say that we are all completely satisfied with our looks or mannerisms.

Which one thing would you change about yourself if you had the opportunity? Ask the same question to a friend and discuss the answer. Is their opinion the same?

Bureau de change

School desks have evolved over the years; from the wooden hinged-top variety with inkwells to simple plastic tables.

Invent and design an 'integrated' workplace that would be of real use to you: consider everything you might need in today's hi-tech world.

Twisted meaning

Whilst a paper clip is a useful piece of office equipment, it can also be tempting to re-form.

Analyse your day so far: choose a word that best reflects your current mood and bend paper clips to represent the letters. Ask someone to try to decipher your word.

Flight plan

Most paper planes manage to complete at least a short flight – influencing their direction is considerably trickier.

Design and build a stunt paper aeroplane that will successfully incorporate a 'loop-the-loop' into its flight.

Trees company

Even in cities, we are never too far away from a tree; they provide homes for wildlife, clean the air and enhance the look of an area.

But how much notice do we take of these ever-present woody neighbours? Can you complete a map that includes every single tree in your local area? Can you identify any particular species of trees?
